

ETHEL EVERHARD MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Fall 2010

Muir is Still Here

Book Talk with authors
Kathleen McGwin and
Daryl Christensen
Wednesday, November 2:
1-2 PM

2010 is officially declared the “Year of John Muir” in Marquette County. McGwin and Christiansen’s book, also published this year, corresponds to this celebration. Their work describes important Marquette County influences on the young John Muir and gives locations where Muir birds, flowers and neighboring settler outpost history can be found. If you have lived in Marquette County or spent time here, you’re sure to recognize many of the places and natural wonders to be discussed at this event.

Online Credit/Debit Card Payments for Fines

No longer are library users barred from using their accounts online once they have reached the $5.00 threshold. Anyone can access the credit/debit card payment feature by logging into their library account any time, any day. Once payment has been accepted, users are immediately able to place holds, renew items, etc.

COMPUTER CLASSES

► Sign Up for a Free Email Account

This is an on-going service provided by the library. We assist people on an as-needed basis, but recommend that you call first to ensure that staff are not hosting another program during your desired time.

► Word Processing (Limit 6)

Wednesday, October 27: 5-6 PM

Participants will create a basic document using Word. This sample document will then be used to practice editing and to try some additional common functions.

► Basic Internet Searching (limit 6)

November 9, 11, 16: 5-6 PM

This multi-session class is for adults with little to no experience using the internet. It will be helpful if you have some experience using a mouse. If you feel you need a little practice with this before the first day of class, come in and request a little one-on-one tutoring using some exercises we've devised. There's nothing to it!

► Download free audio books to your MP3 Player or iPod (No class size limit)

Tuesday, November 30: 5-6 PM OR

Wednesday, December 8: 5-6 PM

Do you like audio books or ebooks? Would you like see a demonstration of how to find, download, and transfer free audio books and ebooks to a portable device or ereader? You can also download directly to a smart phone.

Participants will also see and handle several different types MP3 players and iPods currently on the market.

► Facebook Informational Session (No class size limit)

Tuesday, December 7: 5-6 PM

A brief introduction for those considering creating an account, or simply wanting to be informed.

Using our digital projector, we will present features offered to Facebook users.

Food-for-Fines

The Library's annual food drive will be held from November 8th through December 8th. Bring in nonperishable food items in exchange for a .50 fine reduction per item.

Tots to Teens Book Drive

Sponsored by the Literacy Council, Marquette County This successful program has placed much appreciated books into the homes and hands of Marquette County families for several years. The Library will again be a collection site. Drop off new or like-new books for children and teens any time from November 15th through December 2nd.

Call for volunteers

We are currently in need of a Friday morning shelver and a Monday afternoon Shelver. Each shift is 30-60 minutes. We also need one or two people who would like to be computer tutors on an as needed basis. Tutors must be 14 or older and have a desire to work with people who have little to no computer experience. Tutoring times are flexible to fit the schedules of you and your student. These volunteer positions are ideal for building job experience and references.
